A home for life

The Piccola Casa located in Pisa in Via Mazzini 61 , thanks the benevolence of the Counts of Lodovico Rosselmini Gualandi and Augusta Raimond, who wanted to donate the building to the Piccol Casa in order to found in Pisa an institute which gave assistance and comfort to the poor people. The opening of the House was on 17 January 1923, the same day in 1828 when Saint Joseph Benedict Cottolengo opened the Piccola Casa in Turin.

During these 97 years «cottolengo pisano» has welcomed more than 1,800 men and women, orphans, physically and psychically disabled: using exclusively own resources, continuously nourished by the generosity of the benefactors.

There are 60 guests including 19 orphans since birth or with serious economic problems.

These are mainly elderly persons of both sexes with mental, physical and age-related disabilities.

It is necessary for the Piccola Casa in Pisa a radical structural intervention: to be able to continue to accommodate those who already live, and add some more.

In particular, part of the current building is affected by the renovation project, but it will also involve the surrounding wall, the park and possible parking.

The new structure should accommodate at least another 20 guests. Within the structure, moreover, one or two communities of the After of us could settle.

Our intention is to continue, in the territory of Pisa and province, to take care for us with love and devotion of the people who every day are continuing to entrust their lives in our hands.

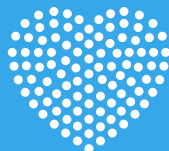

With your help for the restructuring, the house of Cottolengo in Pisa will begin more than a building it will be a Home for your life.
